ActiveX Control Property Pages

▶ Accessible Using

1.  if selected: "Control > Property Pages..."; or

2.  "Property Pages..." from the context menu.

Property pages are available with most ActiveX controls. They are used to configure the attributes of the ActiveX control in an individual way. After an ActiveX control in a dialog has been configured using its property pages, Natural stores the result of the configuration in binary form in the private resource file associated with the dialog. For more information on resources see the Programming Guide - Object Types - Resource.