

CLEAR

This command is used to close the currently active object and to open a new editor window without content and without a name. The type of editor is the same as for the currently active object.

If the currently active object has been modified since the last save, you are prompted to save any changes.

See also Clearing Editor Windows in Using Natural Studio.