About this Documentation

All object types are available from the Configuration Manager. If you are not an administrator, the allowed object types depend on the user group you belong to.

The following topics describe the object-specific dialog boxes.

- System Preferences and Settings (available to the administrator only)
- Users
- User Groups (available to the administrator only)
- Menus
- Tasks
- Session Properties (for host sessions)
- Communication Parameters (for host sessions and host printer sessions)
- Color Schemes
- Fonts
- Key Schemes
- BS2000 P-Key Schemes
- Host Printer Sessions (available to the administrator only)
- Tables (available to the administrator only)

For general information on the above listed object types, see About the Object Types in the Configuration Manager section.