Control Library

You have written nice sets of controls? Why not pass these controls to others who might be interested?

Application Designer will build up a library of control libraries inside the web. If desired, we will check the control library for being conform to the Application Designer framework - and then publish it within our pages. There will be no publishing without your explicit agreement. Licensing conditions - between you and the users of your control - will be defined by yourself and must be clearly defined before publishing.

Please contact the Application Designer team at Software AG.
