

Becoming a Member of the Startup Process

There may be the demand to become a member of the startup process of Application Designer: for example, in some cases you have an application which is accessed by Application Designer - by corresponding adapter classes. Typically, you have to initialise this application, for example, by setting up some database connection.

This initialisation takes time and should be done on startup of Application Designer - instead of the first time a user interacts with the application.

The information provided in this part is organized under the following headings:

- Overview
- Startup Class
