Types of Property Binding

There are different types of binding techniques that are provided:

- Java Bean binding - the adapter provides set/get methods.

- Dynamic access binding - the adapter provides the implementation of a generic interface to access its data.

- XML access binding - the property values are kept within XML files, together with the page layout.